

SMMPA and its Members are committed to helping you use electricity wisely

Providing rebates when you buy energy efficient products for your home or business is just one way we are saving you money and keeping electric rates low.

In 2015, we paid our electric customers $5,273,806 in rebates to help them invest in energy-efficient products. Those products saved enough electricity to power 5,363 homes per year, and provided the same carbon dioxide reduction as planting 7,417 acres of trees.

Four-time ENERGY STAR Award Winners, SMMPA and its members are helping you save money and protect the environment through energy efficiency.
